Brunstein at the UN

Businessman Nir Brunstein, chairman of Krembo Wings, the only youth movement in Israel for children with severe special needs, was invited to address the United Nations. Brunstein, whose daughter Tal takes part in Krembo and has special needs, was applauded loudly after giving a personal and moving speech to country delegates and representatives of youth organizations from around the world. Danny Danon, Israel's new ambassador to the UN, was unable to attend and Deputy Ambassador David Roth filled in for him.
